Join us for a rare opportunity to position your organization as a valued partner in fall prevention.

The 2026 Slips, Trips, and Falls International Conference will be held June 16–18, 2026, in Huntsville, Alabama, USA, and is hosted by The University of Alabama in Huntsville. This conference aims to bring together experts from around the world to share research excellence, industrial advances, and policy innovations in the prevention of slip, trip, and fall-related injuries.

This conference is expected to draw 150 delegates from a wide variety of safety-related sectors, including risk and safety managers, architects and designers, planners and facilities managers, ergonomists and forensics experts, footwear and flooring manufacturers, policymakers, standards committee members, safety and healthcare professionals, researchers, and engineering professionals.

Conference Goals

Falls and fall injuries are common workplace injuries that span falls from heights and slips and falls on the same level that span industries (e.g., construction, educational and health services, healthcare and social assistance, and more).

The 2026 Slips, Trips, and Falls International Conference aims to:

- Facilitate communication and collaboration on fall prevention strategies to reduce fall injuries for all.
- Encourage continued progress and improvement in slip/trip/fall prevention across various industries.
- Stay informed on global and cutting-edge advancements in slip/trip/fall prevention research and programs.
- Promote the creation of new networks, collaborations, and partnerships to further the field of slip/trip/fall prevention.
- Exchange ideas for innovative and effective solutions to address the rising issue of slip/trip/fall injuries.
